COVID-19 Impact

Grades, Rigor, and Test Scores

Choosing Major, Building College List

Affordability, Sources of Financial Aid

Applications

Timelines for Junior through Senior Year

Additional Resources

COVID-19 Impact – What's Changed

- Difficult year (grades, activities, mental health)
- Ability to take SAT or ACT; test optional policies
- Difficult or impossible to visit colleges in person
- Factors in admissions (ex. interviews)
- Virtual resources
- Greater flexibility

COVID-19 Impact – What's The Same

Colleges still look for the same things:

- Can you do the work?
- Will you stay and complete your degree?
- How are you unique?
- Do you boost our average GPA & scores?
- How much can you pay?

What are you looking for?

- Know your priorities
- Adopt the mindset that you are interviewing colleges
- Academic fit
- Cultural fit
- Affordability

Grades, Rigor, and Test Scores

Grades and Rigor

- #1 consideration!
- This doesn't mean you need perfect grades! Check range of GPA for admitted students.

Running Start

- Keep syllabi - determines eligibility to waive college classes

Implications for College Admissions

- Colleges recognize the rigor of AP, IB, and Running Start classes - based on test scores and/or grades
- AP and IB scores carry increasing weight

Test Blind and Test Optional

Test Blind – colleges will not accept or consider test scores in admissions decisions.

Test Optional - submitted scores will be considered. Only submit scores if they'll strengthen your application.

Tests Required – Some colleges and programs still require scores.

- Check the average score range for each of your colleges at www.CollegeData.com to see how your scores compare.
- Without test scores, colleges will place more weight on the other elements of your application (GPA, rigor, essays, interviews, etc.)
- Check www.FairTest.org for colleges' most current test requirements.

Choosing your Major

What subjects and activities do you enjoy?
What do you do in your free time?

- Identify career interests at My Next Move
<https://www.mynextmove.org/>
- Search for majors and careers at Big Future
<https://bigfuture.collegeboard.org/majors-careers>
- Major Quiz (Loyola University Chicago):
<https://www.luc.edu/undergrad/academiclife/what-smymajorquiz/>
- Emerging Markets/In-Demand Careers (Cal Poly):

Building Your College List: Other Considerations

Questions to ask on college visits (Indiana U):
<https://nsse.indiana.edu/support-resources/students-parents/pocket-guide/english.html>

Know what matters to you!

- Is the major you want offered?
- Does the campus culture match your values and priorities?
- Is it affordable?

Estimate Your Cost of Attendance

Differences in Affordability

Community Colleges

- Usually the least expensive option. Can transfer with AA degree.

Public

- In-State – Usually the next least expensive option.
- WUE - Search for colleges and majors with regional tuition discounts through Western Undergraduate Exchange (WUE): <https://wuesavingsfinder.wiche.edu/>
- Out-of-State - Check whether they offer need-based and/or merit scholarships.

Private

- Check if a college offers need-based and/or merit scholarships.

International

Tuition can be less expensive in other countries.

- United Kingdom <https://www.ucas.com/>
- Europe <https://www.studyineurope.eu/>

Federal, State, and Institutional Need-Based Aid

General Info: <https://studentaid.gov/understand-aid/types>

Federal (FAFSA): <https://studentaid.gov/understand-aid/estimate> For U.S. citizens and eligible non-citizens to be considered for grants, loans, and work-study funds.

State (WASFA): <https://readysetgrad.wa.gov/wasfa> For students who are not eligible for federal financial aid due to immigration status may be eligible for WA State programs.

CSS Profile: <https://cssprofile.collegeboard.org/> Required by some private colleges for institutional financial aid.

Sources of Financial Aid

Sources of Financial Aid

Institutional Merit Scholarships

Automatically considered at most colleges but check college admissions pages for deadlines and specific requirements.

Most colleges are test optional for merit scholarships (if they are for admission) but check each college to be sure.
